

Ms. Farnsworth's 3rd Grade Class
Neil Armstrong Academy

Why Bald Eagles should be caged

One reason is people could see them for once.
Another reason is to protect people.
Last reason is protect them because they are endangered.
These are just a couple reasons why Bald Eagle should be caged.

Should Asian Elephants be captured and caged? I think they should be captured and caged because when they are in the wild they are being killed and there habitats are losing food and water so they are dying there are less than 43,000 in the world they are allmost exstinkt. There enviornment is being distroyed so there losing food and water. And pepole kill them for there tusks and leave the body. And that is wy I whoud like Asian elephants to be captured and caged they will have plenty of food,water,shelter and friends to play with and keep each other company.

By;Lexie and Caden

Asian Elephants

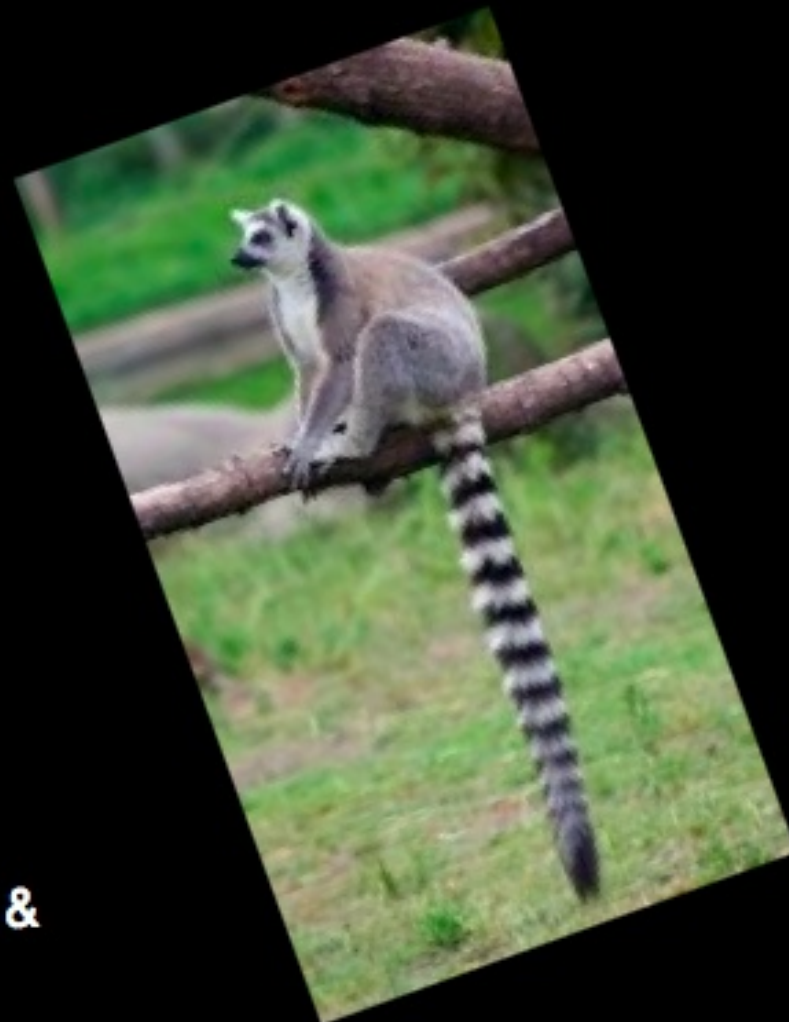

Should we capture and cage animals?

Several different types of lemurs at a risk of being extinct. Wild lemurs spend 5% sunning, captive lemurs spend 8% sunning. 80% of lemurs habitat has been destroyed.

Opinion

I think we can capture and cage animals. I think we can capture and cage animals so they can be protected. If we don't capture and cage animals it is possible that they can extinct.

By: Noah &
Finlay

Should animals be captured and caged? I think the Spectacled bear should not be not be captured and caged because I think it should live and be free like us.

I think the Spectacled bear should not be captured and caged because I think it should be with its little ones to be safe.

By Lexi and Raelee

I think the Spectacled bear should be captured and caged because I think it should be in its own habitat. So it won't die.

I think the Spectacled bear should not be captured and caged because I think it should stay with its family.

All over the world animals are being captured and caged . Including Mexican gray wolves . There are only 300 left in the world. There being captured and caged because there destroying things . They cant go to yellow stone anymore. They can live up to 15 to 16 years . Those are a few facts about captured and caged.

love shantell

All over the world animals are being captured and caged including Mexican gray wolves.there only 300 left in the world.why are Mexican gray wolves being captured and caged. wolves can be about 300 lbs.these are only a few fact about captured and caged.

love,
Maycie

yes we should capture and cage because they can kill other animals. also the animals that kill the wolves wont get a chance to go to the zoo. they should also be captured and caged because there is only a few more left in the world. also yellow stone is being ruled by them. we should not capture and cage animals because they live on land scape. also the female can have there babies. then there will be more. also when there are more they will stop ruling yellow stone and go to where they live in the mountains.also stop coming to yellow stone.Also live free.

friendly,
maycie

my animal is Mexican gray wolves
i think we should captured and caged because animals can kill the wolves. there is only 300 hundred left thats why there easy to kill. the wolves wont get a chance to go to the zoo. so people don't like them that is ok. also yellow stone is being ruled by them. why not they should be cage and captured because they need family and food they eat like they have to kill them. if they have kids they need to teach them how to live eat hunt and also prudes . gray wolves to live free.

love,
shantell

Panda fact's

McKenna

Pandas in captivity lived 20 year's in captivity in the wild panda's live longer.
Only 1,000 panda's are living in bamboo forest's in the mountain's of southern china.
In the wild panda's live up to 18 to 25 year's.
There are 2,000 panda's are left in the wild.
Almost 200 panda's are in captivity worldwide.

Opinyon if panda's can be caged or not.

Yes panda's can be caged if the panda is sick, and be releast into the wild when it is helthy again.

No panda's can not be caged if the panda is a baby.

Yes panda's can be caged if the panda is lost.

No panda's can not be caged if the panda has a baby.

McKenna

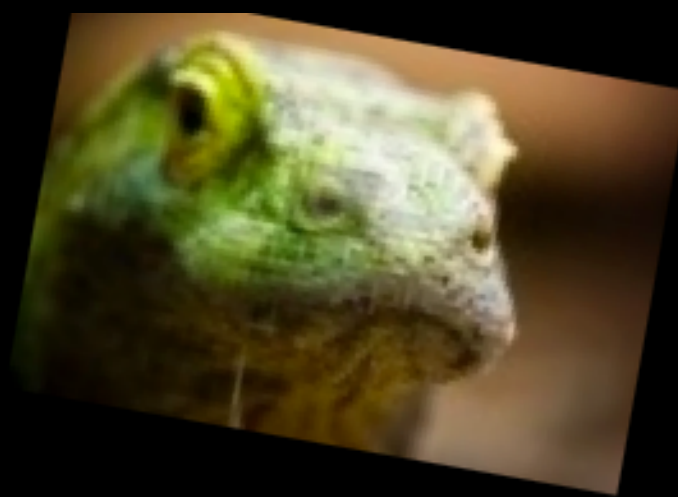

Facts

Bald Eagles can fly 10,000 feet above the ground, Bald Eagles can fly up to 40 miles per hour, Bald Eagles aren't bald at all they are called that because their head is white, A Bald Eagle has 7,000 feathers, a Bald Eagles nest are 8 feet wide, Bald Eagles eggs can hatch after 30 days.

Facts the Komodo dragon is the largest living Lizard! There are only about 3,000 left. The Komodo dragon is found in the island of Komodo. They can live up to 30 years.

Andrew- should we capture and cage animals? Yes when they are injured, or severely hurt, or when they are trying to hurt us, friends or family. No when they are being abused and harmed.

Kyler- Yes when they are for the zoo and I think they will live better in the zoo because they will get fed. No when they are being abused and harmed and are caging them to kill them. and I don't want them to be food.

Andrew and Kyler

These are some facts about mountain gorillas in captivity and out of captivity.

First fact is that there are only 880 that are not in captivity.

Second fact is that mountain gorillas weigh about 180 pound

Forth fact is that there is only 4 mountain gorillas in captivity

These are only some of the facts about mountain gorillas

I think that mountain gorillas can be in captivity only if they are endured.
And they can have people take care of them.
And they can get good care.
And they will be happy.
And they will make friends in captivity.
All animals should be released into the wild or where they came from.
Take care of the ones in captivity.
Be nice to ones that are in there own home.
Mountain gorillas need help so they can live.
Mountain gorillas and other animals should be protected
I think that all animals should stay in wildlife and will be safe

By Bailey

People have been capturing and caging animals like the Komodo dragons. There are about 6,000 Komodo dragons left on earth. They are being captured and caged for their skin. Very few are living on their home island because people are destroying their land. These are just some facts about Komodo dragons.

I think that you shouldn't capture and cage animals if....

Yes when,

When they are hurt.

Or when they are sick. When they are in danger from another person or from another animal.

No when,

They are not harmed. And when they don't need help. And when they are not in danger.

My option. For example if there was a bird that had a broken wing and a cat was going to get it would you put it in a cage and save it from the cat? Well if you were to leave the bird to die then save it? That makes it ok. But if you were to cage it for fun that makes it not ok.

By, Jt

All over the world animals are being captured and caged including the Asian Elephants

1- With the human population growing the elephant population is going down

2- There are less 43,000 in the world.

3- Also their habitat is losing food so they are dying.

4- They are being killed for there tusks.

By; Lexie

Asian Elephants